AjaxCFC for jQuery Alpha3 Release

Posted At : February 11, 2007 10:28 PM | Posted By : Rob Gonda

Related Categories: ajax, ajaxCFC, Coldfusion

I just updated the SVN with the 3rd alpha release of AjaxCFC for jQuery. For those of you not familiarized with source control repositories, I included the code into the main AjaxCFC download (thank Rey Bango for reminding me four times a day), available at   RIAForge   and my blog. You can also just click   here .

This release includes several small fixes in the JavaScript and upgrade to the latest CFJSON. Thanks to Larry Reinhard for pointing it out.

The code seems to be really stable; I haven't got many bug reports, au contraire, Jacob Munson, from   CFQuickDocs   , said he dropped it into his code w/o any complications, maintaining all existing functionality.

I shall wrap up some documentation and officially release it for production.